Over 900 children and youth aged 5 – 17 have so far answered a consultation launched by FMSI in preparation for a major United Nations’ debate that will be held on Sept. 28 in Geneva, Switzerland.

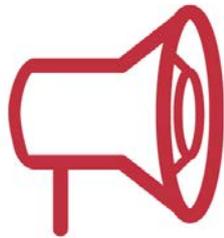

FMSI will attend this year’s annual Day of General Discussion, themed “Protecting and Empowering Children as Human Rights Defenders,” and is gathering feedback until July 1 from Marist children worldwide on the issue.

Over the last few weeks, several workshops took place around the Marist world and so far, responses have arrived from children of 13 countries including Australia, the Philippines, Spain, Portugal, Canada, Mexico, Colombia, Brazil, Argentina, Paraguay, Chile, the United States and Madagascar.

These are some of their answers:

- “I want to change the perception of people that we are only children. I want them to know that we are children capable of expressing our opinion and

- “As a human rights defender, my role is to raise awareness in promoting child protection, be a witness to love and to take care of all children, especially those who are neglected and those who are voiceless.” (Madagascar)

- “Who better than children and adolescents to interact and motivate children and adolescents?” (Brazil)
- “Children who defend human rights must be persistent, courageous and hopeful. They must be people who strive for equality.” (Portugal)

FMSI also received an interview with Pedro Coelho, a student from Colégio Marista de Carcavelos in Cascais, Portugal.

The Marist Young Adult Advisory Committee of the United States province held a gathering to discuss major issues in the US regarding the rights of children.

Young adults can take part in the consultation with an online survey that is available until July 1 in English, Spanish and French.

Helped by UMBRASIL, FMSI will then create a report of 2,500 words summarizing the information gathered in the consultations, which will be presented in Geneva.

SEMINAR FOR THE STAFF OF NOTRE DAME OF COTABATO

Br Jeff Rhey, who obtained a diploma at the Centre for Child Protection at the Gregorian University earlier this year, gave an orientation session on child safeguarding for the staff of Notre Dame of Cotabato in southern Mindanao, the Philippines, in May. The theme was 'The role of the Catholic educational institution in safeguarding of children' and focused on child rights and the problem of online sexual exploitation of children in the country. Ninety-six staff, including religious brothers and Christian and Muslim teachers, took part. They look after 2,500 students from kindergarten to high school.

CHILD PROTECTION AND CHILD RIGHTS IN THE INSTITUTE

In recent years, the Institute has become very aware of the serious abuse suffered by children and has laid the groundwork for guaranteeing that Marist works be safe places for them. At present, 100% of Administrative Units have a brother appointed to the role of safeguarding delegate.

Since 2011, the General Government carries out actions to promote institutional policies that include fundamental principles and norms for the protection of children. In addition to the role of FMSI at the United Nations, two seminars were held at the General House for leaders of the entire Institute: 'Safeguarding Children and Young People' (2012) and 'Keeping Children Safe: Raising Awareness, Creating a Safe Environment' (2016).

The debate during the last General Chapter in 2017 was an important step in this process. It issued a statement to abuse victims and survivors, underscoring that "abuse is the very antithesis of our Marist values, and undermines the very purpose of our Institute. Any abuse of children is a betrayal of the noble ideals of our founder, St Marcellin Champagnat." Even considering the achievements that have already been made, the Institute believes it is necessary to continue to progress to the point where this awareness reaches every corner of the Marist world, where adults have the means needed to prevent and protect children from any kind of abuse and where effective action and procedures are in place regarding the dignity of children.

To further the formation of brothers and lay people involved in the Marist mission, the Institute, through FMSI, is promoting the E-Learning formation offered by the Centre for Child Protection of the Gregorian University. Educators from Europe are already attending the programme, offered through the University of Alcalá de Henares. Starting next October, the Pontifical Catholic University of Paraná will offer the same course to Brazilian educators. Soon, other Marist institutions in Peru, Mexico, Chile and Argentina will conclude the agreement with the Pontifical Gregorian University and will also be able to train other people involved with the education of children and young people, becoming promoters of the defence of their rights.

MEDITERRANEA'S PROVINCIAL SUPERIOR IS RE-ELECTED FOR A SECOND TERM

BR JUAN CARLOS FUERTES MARÍ

After consultation with the brothers of the Mediterranea province, the general council has appointed Brother Juan Carlos Fuertes Marí as provincial for a second term of three years.

The announcement was made in a letter from superior general Brother Ernesto Sánchez Barba addressing the brothers of the Mediterranea province on June 14. In his letter, Br Ernesto thanked Br Juan Carlos for his "openness and generosity" in continuing to serve the Institute as provincial.

"Your closeness to people, your capacity to form teams and your broadness of mind and accuracy, contribute to the good development of your mission," wrote Br Ernesto. "My gratitude is also expressed to the Council and to those who collaborate in the different provincial leadership teams."

He also thanked the brothers and the laity for their "generosity and dedication in favour of the life and the mission in the different countries which form part of the Mediterranea province, including the district of West Africa."

Br Juan Carlos will begin this second mandate during the celebration of the next Provincial Chapter, which will be held in Guardamar, Spain, from Jan. 2 – 4, 2019.

BRASIL SUL-AMAZÔNIA

BR. INACIO ETGES IS APPOINTED AS PROVINCIAL FOR A SECOND TERM

The General Council has appointed Brother Inacio Etges to continue his mission as provincial superior of the Marist province of Brazil Sul-Amazonia during the triennium of 2019 – 2021.

The appointment took place after a consultation was held with the brothers of the province.

Br Inacio will assume his second term during the provincial chapter that will be held from Dec. 2 – 7.

In his letter sent to the province, general superior Brother Ernesto Sánchez expressed appreciation towards Brother Inacio and his leadership in recent years: "thank you for your passion for the consecrated life, for the accompaniment of the brothers and the communities, and for the organisation of the province, everything that was done as a team with your provincial council and other provincial teams."

Before his appointment, Br Inacio invited the brothers of the province to seek discernment especially for the mission entrusted to the Institute by the last General Chapter.

"We need to abandon the culture of egos and promote the 'ecos' (ecology, ecosystem, solidarity economy ...), where life has enough space to develop according to the Creator's plan, that requires a collective construction, for which I urge you! Holding each other's hands and arms, let us welcome, together and with co-responsibility, the surprises of the future that are reserved for us!"

Graduated in theology and mathematics by the PUCRS and with a degree and a Masters in psychology from the Gregorian University, in Rome, Br Inacio has an impressive career as a director and educator.

He was in charge of the former Marist province of Rio Grande do Sul and has been in the Marist province of Brasil Sul-Amazonia since 2016.

He was also a teacher at the Marist schools of Rosário, Champagnat, São José and Graças and he served in several houses of formation for brothers in different periods.

INSTITUTE'S SECRETARY GENERAL CELEBRATES 50TH JUBILEE AS A MARIST BROTHER

The Institute's secretary general, Brother Carlos A. Huidobro, celebrated his fiftieth anniversary as Marist Brother on June 14 at the general house in Rome, Italy.

The celebration – a Mass at noon, followed by lunch – included the current and former general councils and superior generals, who are meeting together from June 11 – 15.

"I feel very well and very happy in the place where I am and where I have been, with the brothers that I have around me and with those who were with me in my Province (Cruz del Sur)," Br Carlos told the communications office of the general house.

"Especially because it's not every day that you celebrate 50 years (as a Marist Brother)!" he added.

Although the anniversary of Br Carlos was last Dec. 8, on the feast of the Immaculate Conception, he arranged with superior general Brother Ernesto Sánchez to hold the celebration with both general councils in June.

FEAST OF SAINT MARCELLIN CHAMPAGNAT

GREEK MARISTS HONOUR THE FOUNDER

Marists in Greece organised several celebrations and demonstrations for the feast of Saint Marcellin Champagnat.

Firstly, Wednesday morning, June 6, Mass was celebrated in the two Marist schools of Greece, located in Athens and in Nea Smyrni. In the afternoon, another Mass was celebrated in the Catholic Church of the Annunciation in Kallithea, which was animated by Marist Youth in Action with the help of all Marist brothers of Greece, many teachers, former students and volunteers of Marist social works. On Saturday, June 9, a big show was held in the Marist School of Athens to commemorate the feast of Saint Marcellin Champagnat and to show the current vitality of the Marist mission.

Participants included the communities of the Marist Brothers in Greece, members of the teaching, administrative and technical staff of the two Marist schools as well as volunteers of the social works, alumni, representatives of parents' associations and several students. The director of the Marist School of Athens, Nicolás Noulas, gave the opening speech.

"This evening, we are honouring Saint Marcellin – not to return to the past, which of course forms part of our spiritual heritage, but rather to search for continuity and truth of his vision." Then, all participants prayed to ask for the blessing of our Good Mother and of Saint Marcellin. A representation of the play "Present among us" was then held, inspired by the person and vision of St Marcellin.

The apostolic nuncio of the Holy See in Greece, Archbishop Savio Hon Tai-Fai, took part in the event. In his brief speech, he underscored the Christian education that Marist brothers and laity currently offer children and youth in Greece and worldwide.

At the end of the evening, participants had a community dinner in a climate of great joy.

'MAY THEIR LIVES BECOME A BEAUTIFUL SONG'

TESTIMONY OF THE LAVALLA200> COMMUNITY IN SYRACUSE, ITALY

The Community Lavalla200> Syracuse in Italy was born in October 2016, to serve mainly unaccompanied children and young people, refugees or immigrants who disembark in Italy.

Its members are Gabriel Bernardo da Silva (Brazil Centro-Sul), Br Onorino Rota (Mediterranea), Mario Araya Olguín (Santa Maria de los Andes) and Br Ricardo Gómez Rincón (Norandina).

Below is a testimony of the community's newsletter, number 24, published on June 10.

On April 15, 218 immigrants disembarked in the port of Augusta. Three ambulances arrived before the start of operations, an obvious sign that aboard the ship there are people, who are ill and that they must be taken urgently to the hospital. Nabilah, a young woman of 20 years who was taken to the Hospital Umberto I of Syracuse, got on the first ambulance. She underwent an emergency surgery, a Cesarean, giving birth to two children of 1600 grams. The news appeared in the media and journalists made the usual queue to get their scoop. Then, as often happens, there was nothing but silence. Ono was called to the hospital to talk to Nabilah, who comes from Ivory Coast and who, in addition to her language, was able to make herself be understood in French. Like all young women her age, she had found her love, but her father demanded that she marry a much older man. There were no alternatives, the only solution was to flee, and she escaped with the consent of her mother. The trip with her boyfriend lasted over a year. From the problems experienced during the trip, we can imagine the difficulties they had encountered. In their passage through Libya, both suffered all kinds of torture and violence, as all immigrants suffer, and which social networks are now beginning to show us images of. Nabilah got pregnant and, as I understand, she did not know if the children were from her boyfriend or from the rape she suffered. At the incubator next to her two little ones, she told me, crying, "They are white!"

The trip from Libya to Italy was not long, but rather complicated. The two boats that picked up the refugees landed in two different ports and, until now, Nabilah has no news of her boyfriend. She was traveling in a packed boat where she could not move. She spent a long time standing because there was no place to sit, much less to lie down. After a day and a half on the sea, she noticed that her baby (she still did not know there were two) was no longer moving. As soon as she got on the Coast Guard boat, the crew gave her the necessary treatment, but they immediately understood the seriousness of the case and notified the IRC (Italian Resuscitation Council) of the town of Augusta.

Nabilah is now in a centre near Syracuse and sometimes goes to the hospital to see how the two little ones are growing. I have not yet had the courage to talk calmly with her (mostly due to a lack of time), but I have asked myself, "how is she living this moment? How will she find the love for the two creatures that she carried in her womb, but that maybe she did not want and that are the result of violence instead of love? What effect will that sentence have that she said, in tears, "they are white!"?

Maybe I'm asking myself too many questions. I only hope that the smile of God, the smile of Mary and the smile of many other people with a big heart can give these children all the warmth they need to make their lives become a beautiful song.
